HAROLD BAUER CONCERT PROVES A MUSICAL TREAT OF RARE INTEREST

Seldom are the music lovers of Honolulu given as great a treat as the Harold Bauer concert last night afforded them. From the moment the great artist stepped on the stage until he made his final bow the keenest interest was shown. Many of the prominent musicians of the city carried their music and throughout the whole program followed the pianist's phrasing.

The fact that Harold Bauer is a master pianist is one that must surely be undisputed throughout the musical world. He is an actor of the piano, preserving, as he does, the absolute individuality of each composer, separate and distinct from the other, never mixing the poetry of the Slav with the intellectuality of the Teuton.

His dramatic performance of the great "Appassionata Sonata" with its stormy gusts of wildness, occasionally interrupted by harmonious calm, was succeeded by a perfect rendering of Schumann's "Carnaval." If we may be permitted to say so—Schumann is Mr. Bauer's specialty. It is safe to say that no other artist has brought to light that composer's intellectual emotionalism with more accurate interpretation. In response to an enthusiastic encore, Mr. Bauer played Schumann's transcription "Vogel als Prophet" with exquisite delicacy and wistfulness. In the Chopin numbers he was perhaps a little less convincing, but nevertheless masterful and dramatic; the ever popular G minor ballade was followed by a generous encore, the "Chopin A flat Major Valse." The "Air de Ballette" of Gluck arranged by St. Saens was undoubtedly the gem of the program—so gay and yet dignified, so sweet and yet so profoundly touching in its simplicity that it seemed surely the acme of perfection.

Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 13 was truly Hungarian, not merely a brilliant technical feat but breathing the genuine Magyar spirit. The encore following was the irresistible etude on the black notes by Chopin, which concluded an evening of absolute musical pleasure for the enthusiastic Honolulu audience.

MAGEE MUSICAL COMEDY COMPANY IN TOWN WITH GOOD REPUTATION

The Jack Magee Musical Comedy Company, which opens at the Bijou Theater tomorrow night for an indefinite engagement, arrived in Honolulu this morning on the Matsonia. The company numbers eight principals and a chorus that will be different from any which has ever been seen in Honolulu inasmuch as it will be composed of all "show girls" and no "ponies."

The chorus is picked largely from girls who came to San Francisco with the "Candy Shop," one of the big successes of last season, and all are New York Casino girls. Each one is capable of doing a specialty and all are good singers and dancers. There are twenty-two persons in the organization.

The principals are Jack Magee, who has played in eastern burlesques and musical comedy and is a product of Broadway; Frank Vack, one of the best known of German comedians; Clarence Lydston, leading man, who was recently with Kolb & Dill and Madame Sherry; Cliff Stuart, recently of the Alcazar company in San Francisco; Dorothy Raymond, prima donna, who has been a favorite on the coast for several years; Maxie Mitchell, late soubrette of the Kolb & Dill company; Lillian Mason, character woman, who has just closed with the Merry Countess Company; Frances Kerry, who was recently with the LaSalle Musical Stock Company in Chicago.

The opening bill tomorrow night will be "Gilhooley's Troubles," a rollicking, frolicking comedy involving a rich Irish banker in a number of love affairs and replete with laughable complications and situations. The entire cast will be seen in this bill.

Francis DeVerne and Grace Cornell, the "Two Nut Sisters," will make their first appearance here and promise to make an instantaneous hit if they continue the record which they have made on the mainland. There will be a number of late song hits and a variety of specialties. Advice from the coast are that the company is one of the best musical organizations which has been sent to Hawaii.

MAUI BOWLERS WILL COMPETE IN HONOLULU IN REGATTA FESTIVITIES

Maul will be represented in the Regatta day sports in Honolulu next Saturday with a strong bowling team. The boys, who will be captained by W. S. Chillingworth, expect to bring back the bacon which was lost at Puunene on Harvest Home day, last month. The team they will go up against will be a picked team of the Flower of Oahu's rollers under Capt. James Winnie, but Maul has won before, and expects to do it again.

In the team will be W. S. Chillingworth, W. Bai, Jr., William Scholtz, J. H. Nelson and L. B. Kaumehelwa. A sixth man will also be taken along to substitute in case anyone breaks a leg; and this will probably be Ed Delbert of Puunene.

In order to help break even on their expenses the bowling team is giving a dance this evening at the Gym, which will be a very pleasant affair, and which should be well patronized.—Maui News.

JUNGLE LIFE IS DEPICTED ON THE LIBERTY SCREEN

"Thor, Lord of the Jungles," a thrilling picture of animal trapping in the wilds of Africa, and life under the canvas of a big circus, will be the feature of the Ye Liberty Theater for the coming week, beginning with the matinee tomorrow. "The Wreck" will be shown for the last time tonight.

The African jungle and circus picture is replete with thrills. It depicts a story of the son of a circus owner going into darkest Africa to secure new animals for the zoo. He secures the aid of the daughter of a Dutch colonist who has remarkable control over wild animals.

At the suggestion of the girl it is determined to secure as a prize a ferocious black-maned lion which has been named Thor by the natives. Under the directions of the girl this is accomplished. All the thrilling scenes of the lion hunt are vividly shown.

The girl has had a local sweetheart, but the young circus man wins her away and induces her to go with him and join the circus. She does so and becomes queen of the show and popular with all the circus people. In time the young circus man tires of his jungle sweetheart and attempts to betray her.

This becomes known to other circus employees and they lay a plot whereby the bars of the cage in which Thor is confined are sawed so that the savage beast can easily break through when the young circus man is enticed to the cage.

The young woman discovers the plot and rushes to the cage in time to prevent the escaped lion from tearing the circus man to pieces. Thor is condemned to be shot, but the young woman pleads that she be given the animal. She takes it back to Africa, turns it loose in the jungle and then weds her oldtime sweetheart.
